

Stroudsburg-Sharon Shortway Prospects Grow Brighter

State Makes Potential Traffic Survey

PROSPECTS for early state action on the Keystone Shortway Turnpike project are brighter than they seemed a week ago, officers of the Shortway Association reported after a conference with Gov. George M. Leader this week.

Z. H. Confair, of Williamsport, chairman of the association, conferred with Leader and Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler in Harrisburg. He was accompanied by Sen. M. R. Derk, of Jersey Shore, and Sen. Jo Hays, of State College, two of the original sponsors of the Shortway bill that cleared the Legislature with only minor opposition.

Leader and Lawler advised the delegation a survey of potential traffic on the cross-state superhighway is now being made by the State Highway Department and is expected to be completed by June 15. The state officials advised Confair that an aerial survey of the proposed route from Stroudsburg to Sharon had been made before the leaves came out on the trees this Spring. This was the first disclosure that such a study had taken place.

Both surveys are in addition to the independent survey a group of Penn State professors are making to determine whether the Shortway would prove economically sound. The association authorized this study and will report the findings to state authorities to help determine the route's feasibility.

Military Aspect

Confair said the conference with Leader and Lawler also considered the important military aspect of the Shortway and additionally that it would be 100 miles shorter between New York and Cleveland than all existing routes.

This reduction in mileage appeals especially to local resort operators who have reported difficulty in persuading people from Cleveland and other Ohio cities to spend their vacations in the Poconos because of the lack of modern highways linking the two areas.

C. E. Noyes, secretary of the Shortway Association, yesterday reported the results of a survey conducted among 400 industries located in a 40-mile band across the state north and south of the proposed route. To date, 70 percent of the firms have replied, Noyes advised The Daily Record, and the overwhelming majority expressed the feeling that the Shortway would be a godsend to their business, much of which depends upon truck transportation.

The Shortway is essential, Noyes pointed out, to development of the northern half of Pennsylvania. More than that, he said, Routes 6 and 22 and the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be unable to handle the 50 percent increase in travel anticipated by 1970 unless the Shortway is constructed to absorb some of the heavy traffic load.

Body Of Philadelphia Woman Found

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 25 (AP)—A pretty young Philadelphia heiress was found garrotted last night in the apartment of a missing Carson City bartender.

A nationwide alert was broadcast today for the man. Sheriff Lester Smith listed the victim as blonde Mrs. Anne Harris Van Rye, 22, an expectant mother. Smith said he would not declare a positive identification until her dental charts are received from Philadelphia.

But Atty. Prince Hawkins of Reno said: "I'm certain it's Anne Harris Van Rye. Too much fits for it to be anybody else." Hawkins was her lawyer and had talked to her only last Saturday.

Fingerprints of the dead woman matched those on Mrs. Van Rye's car and personal effects. Clothing and jewelry worn by the victim also were identified as belonging to Mrs. Van Rye.

Hawkins said the young woman was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Flagler Harris of the fashionable Chestnut Hill section of Philadelphia and J. Andrew Harris 3rd, a retired aircraft executive.

SORRY, FRIENDS. Spring has now been officially nipped in the bud.

According to local weather observer Bill Hagerty in Stroudsburg the temperature was a strictly un-Springy 25 degrees early yesterday.

It was two degrees warmer (low reading) at Mount Pocono, according to Mrs. Julia Grady, official weather observer at High Point. Both readings were taken at about 5 a.m.

Driver Escapes Injury As Truck Plunges Down Bank

A 20-YEAR-OLD WEST END truck driver apparently escaped with only minor injuries yesterday although his heavy vehicle turned over three times while plunging down a 60-foot embankment in Portland.

Portland Police Chief Jessie Felker said the driver, Lloyd A. Berger of Kunkletown RD., was treated for bruises by Dr. Edmund A. Krause. He was advised to see his own physician.

An estimated $2,500 damage was caused to the dump truck, owned by Wesley W. Smith, Gilbert, when it was forced off old Route 611 near Slateford junction about 2 p. m. yesterday, Felker said.

Traveling North
Berger was traveling north with a heavy load of gravel, when two cars tried to pass him, the police chief said. However, the autos cut the truck off the road when another car approached from the opposite direction.

The truck crashed through some guard rails and tumbled down the embankment and on to an old spur track, Felker said.

The operators of the cars did not wait to identify themselves, police said.

Scholarship Grant Doubles
HARRISBURG, May 25 (AP)—Gov. Leader today signed into law a measure doubling the state competitive college scholarship grant to each county.

The value of the new scholarship grant will be $200 a year for four years. The net increase under the measure is $16,000 a biennium for the program. Each county gets one scholarship.

Other new laws:
Transfer
Allow school directors of districts in a jointure to vote at county convention meetings in the county where the joint school is located.

Increase the membership of the state Military Advisory Commission from six to seven.

Allow the Military Affairs Department to transfer or sell to the Game Commission all or part of an 80-acre tract of the Cold Springs Military Reservation, known as Campshand, Lebanon County.

Permit an increase from five to seven members on county boards of school directors in counties with population over 80,000.

FRACKVILLE, May 25 (AP)—An unfracked miner was found shot to death today outside a cemetery on the Gordon-Ashland Highway near here.

Alfred Mattern, 44, of Ashland, shot himself in the right temple with a .22 caliber pistol, State Policeman James McGennis said.

Low temperatures brought frost to most areas of the county for the fourth time in the past 10 days.

A man keeps his eye on such things—Arthur Ifft, Monroe County agriculture agent—said last night the frost may hurt the strawberries but most other crops had not been badly affected—yet.

Ifft said that yesterday's frost "nipped clover and alfalfa a little bit" but the damage shouldn't cut the yield too much. The farm agent said he hadn't "looked" at fruit trees in most areas of the county and couldn't judge what effect frosts in recent weeks had had on that crop.

But the strawberry crop seems doomed in most parts of the county, Ifft said. Frosts took blossoms off strawberry patches, the farm agent reported.

Pennsylvania Delegation Favors Adlai

HARRISBURG, May 25 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 148-member Democratic delegation today put off endorsing a presidential candidate but its leaders made no secret of their preference for Adlai Stevenson.

Gov. Leader was elected chairman of the delegation—the largest in numbers in the nation but second in voting strength—at its organization meeting.

At one point, a behind-the-scenes movement developed to endorse Leader for vice president but it never reached the floor. The governor was known to be opposed to any such formal endorsement.

Statement

"It will be a matter for us at Chicago to choose a candidate who will stand for the principles of our platform and who has the intestinal fortitude and intellect to carry them out," Leader declared.

And then he drew loud cheers from the delegation in expressing his belief that Stevenson would fulfill that role. The delegation—each member with a half vote—will meet next at Chicago on the eve of the opening of the Democratic national convention Aug. 13.

Last February, the Democratic Policy Committee, formally endorsed Stevenson. There was speculation that the action wasn't duplicated today in deference to delegates who may want to be in position for a last-minute switch to Sen. Estes Kefauver, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York or some darkhorse candidate.

Top Democrats from throughout the Commonwealth went through an all-day schedule of events climaxed by the $100-a-plate fundraising dinner at the state Farm Show Buildings at night.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr (D-Allentown) was reelected without opposition for another two-year term as state chairman.

So were Mrs. Louise M. John, West Chester, as vice chairman; Miss Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs; as secretary; J. Warren McKee, Harrisburg, treasurer; and Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Slippery Rock, members of the national committee.

In a round of speechmaking, the prime objective of Democratic criticism was U. S. Sen. Duff, Republican candidate for reelection who is opposed by Democrat Joseph S. Clark Jr., former Philadelphia mayor.

Barr announced M. J. Lawler, Scranton, will represent Pennsylvania on the national convention's Rules and Order of Business Committee.

The Executive Committee approved a change in the rules of the Venango County Democratic Committee.

Frost Hits Early Crops

By The Associated Press

A LATE Spring frost inflicted millions of dollars damage to crops in the Northeast yesterday. Temperatures dropped about 20 degrees below normal to record lows.

Massachusetts estimated its crop loss at five million dollars, with half of it absorbed by Bay State apple growers. Subfreezing temperatures killed apple blossoms in the Middlesex and Worcester Counties growing area to account for the major portion of the loss.

Elsewhere in the Northeast, frost damaged such spring crops as tomatoes, beans, squash, sweet corn and cucumbers. Early morning temperatures plummeted to the 20s in many sections of New England.

In Rhode Island, apple and peach growers lit hundreds of fires to protect their orchards. At Greenville, R. I., one farmer and five helpers set nearly 500 automobile tires afire to protect a 200-acre area of fruit trees.

The governor added, however, that a ride on the Pennsylvania Turnpike is still a bargain compared to tolls on superhighways in other states.

Sen. Fleming (R-Allegheny), chairman of the five-man committee, said representatives of the press, organized motorists, truckers, turnpike officials and turnpike bond holders have been invited to attend the opening session.

State VFW Commander Warns Of Bradley Report

STATE VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS Commander Marlon O. Walter strongly criticized parts of a recent Presidential commission report on veterans' benefits last night at a meeting at Thomas P. Lambert Post, VFW, Stroudsburg.

Pointing out that some phases of the report have already been studied and recommended by the VFW, Walter warned that other portions are fallacious.

Walter made the report to the local post at a dinner in his honor staged by the VFW chapter. In a statement released through the post's public relations committee, the state commander said:

"The Bradley Report has been recently released by the committee appointed by President Eisenhower. The commission allegedly made a comprehensive study of veterans' compensations and pensions and came up with some startling recommendations for the consideration of the President and the Congress.

"The VFW is not against the report, for certain phases have already been recommended to Congress by the VFW. However, as the commander of the Department of Pennsylvania, I hasten to alert and to warn our members in general of the fallacies contained in portions of the report."

Among the fallacies, Walter said, were these:

The Commission would discourage and recommend taking away compensation for those veterans receiving 10 per cent and 20 per cent disability.

All presumptive cases of disability would be subject to medical only. In many cases the compensation received by such groups would be taken from them.

The Commission recommends the elimination of all statutory awards which "of course, are the result of the loss of bodily members and senses because of the veteran having served his country honorably and aided in the preservation of the United States of America and our Democratic form of government."

The state department commander pointed out that the "Commission was composed of seven men—five of whom have served in the armed forces at one time or another and two of these as generals . . . none of them having ever been members of any veterans organization. Whether the President 'concurs' in the report will depend on pressures from non-veterans groups, Walter said. "It is possible," he continued, "that Congress would pass legislation taking away from the veteran what every generation of peoples from the landing of the Pilgrims to the present day has considered their obligation to the men and women who served their country honorably and well in times of war and catastrophe and made it possible for such veterans to get along in society."

"Compensation, medical expense,

Un-American Committee Holds Passports Of Two Witnesses

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities took up and held the passports of two young women today over their emphatic objections.

The passports were those of Sylvia Atkins who gave her address as Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Joan Ruth Gainer who gave her address as New York.

Both had been subpoenaed to appear and bring their passports.

Richard Arens, committee counsel, said they had traveled to Warsaw, Poland, last year to the "Communist Fifth World Youth Festival" although their passports said not valid for travel in Poland. Both young women declined to answer when asked if they had traveled to Poland.

Protest
Miss Atkins protested that "this is seizure of my personal property."

Rep. Scherer (R-Ohio) replied, "That passport was obtained by you by fraud . . . you should be prosecuted for fraud."

Rep. Kennedy (R-N.Y.) said he was "convinced" that Miss Atkins was "in absolute contempt of this committee" and he would so move.

The committee has been investigating what Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) chairman, has called "misuse of American passports by persons in the service of the Communist conspiracy."

A third young woman, Miriam Schwartz who gave her address as Bronx, N. Y., also was subpoenaed to appear with her passport but said she had lost hers.

Miss Schwartz also declined to say whether she had gone to the festival in Warsaw.

Bargain
The governor added, however, that a ride on the Pennsylvania Turnpike is still a bargain compared to tolls on superhighways in other states.

Sen. Fleming (R-Allegheny), chairman of the five-man committee, said representatives of the press, organized motorists, truckers, turnpike officials and turnpike bond holders have been invited to attend the opening session.

Baylor Awards Degree To President

WACO, Tex., May 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today European union seems nearer now than in centuries. He called communism "a gigantic failure" but said "even this mighty nation is not wholly immune" from its threat.

The President suggested private foundations and the universities of America join in helping free nations answer their educational needs by establishing science and cultural centers to promote world peace.

Speaking to 665 graduating seniors and 11,000 spectators at Baylor University's commencement, the President said even where communism is dominant, men still dream of the day when they may walk "fearlessly in the fullness of human freedom."

The crowd interrupted Eisenhower twice for applause in his nationally televised 30-minute foreign policy address.

Doctor of Laws

Awarding Eisenhower an honorary doctor of laws degree, President W. R. White of Baylor cited the President as "the leader of the forces of freedom" in war and peace.

"The whole free world would be stronger if there existed adequate institutions of modern techniques and sciences in areas of the world where the hunger for knowledge and the ability to use knowledge are unsatisfied because educational facilities are often not equal to the need," Eisenhower said.

Western European union, the President said, would provide "a mighty pillar of strength in the modern world."

"European union, one of the greatest dreams of western man, is nearer today than at any time in centuries, providing bright promise for the future of our European friends and for the growth and strength of liberty," the President said.

Conference

Eisenhower took time for a 30-minute conference with Texas Republican leaders headed by National Committeeman H. J. (Jack) Porter of Houston before leaving for Washington and his farm home near Gettysburg, Pa.

He also spoke briefly with Gov. Allan Shivers, a Democrat who bolted his party to lead Texas into the Republican column in the 1952 presidential election. Shivers recently lost control of state party machinery to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), who says the organization will support the Democratic presidential nominee this year.

Eisenhower told the graduates that "security can not be achieved by arms alone, no matter how destructive the weapons or how large their accumulation."

He then sketched his ideas of how American institutions of learning may help world areas who need it in developing their human and natural resources to combat communism.

The President referred to communism as "cruel, intolerant, atheistic . . . committed to conquest by lure, intimidation and force." It is a threat, he said, "from which even this mighty nation is not wholly immune. Yet, my friends, communism, in its deepest sense, is a gigantic failure."

Soft Drinks With Meals To Be Taxed

HARRISBURG, May 25 (AP)—The state Revenue Department pointed out today that new amendments to the sales tax make soft drinks straight with a meal costing over 50 cents taxable.

In its original form soft drinks as well as liquor and beer were declared outside the definition of taxable beverages. Under amendments signed into law yesterday only beer and liquor were retained in the category.

Clarification

The department said the clarification was issued on information supplied by the state Justice Department.

All purchase up to 11 cents, including soft drinks, are exempt from the three per cent levy.

THE CALL TO THE LIVING

A cross—a hundred crosses—marking the graves of men who died in the service of their country. But why a cross?

Is this the symbol of our gratitude for the sacrifice they made for us? It is not!

Is this the emblem of democracy and freedom in whose cause they laid down their lives? It is not!

But this is the symbol of a crucified and risen Christ. The One who unfolded for mankind the truth of God's love, the truth out of which democracy, freedom, and sacrifice have come.

The cross on a soldier's grave is a call to us—a call to the living to fill our churches. It is a call to serve with eager and sacrificial devotion the Lord whose Truth men have died to preserve.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

President Seeks To Quiet Alarm Over Military Service Squabbles

At his weekly press conference, President Eisenhower sized up the so-called Pentagon feuds in forthright fashion.

What he said added up to two main points:

He would be frightened if the military services didn't indulge in good, strong arguments—all the time. Because, in these days more than ever, every bit of logic, fact and even deduction needs to be exhausted in dealing with these ever more intricate problems.

But the day discipline should disappear from the Armed Forces, there will be no Armed Forces — "we would be foolish to put a nickel into it."

It boils down to a fairly simple proposition, good in any organization: So long as a decision is open, every man-jack in the outfit gets off his views and puts up a fight for them. Then the head man makes the decision and the whole team pitches in to carry it out.

The science of warfare is undergoing a radical change. Doctrines long sacrosanct in the military services, as the President said, are being junked. A whole new idea of military operations is in a process of evolution.

While this evolution is in progress, the search for answers is intense. It stimulates controversy. But the purpose is—or should be—to get the right answers, not to promote a fight between the services.

The President made it clear he will put no restraints on arguments among the services, but once a decision has been made it will stick, period.

That ought to quiet any alarm over Pentagon squabbling, and at the same time serve as notice to hotheads in the services not to forget their perspective.

Stamp Tax Plan Put Off Six Months; Growing Budget Requires More Money

Effective date for using the stamp plan in collecting the state's three per cent sales tax has been put off to January 1 in an amendment to the law signed Thursday by Governor Leader.

The tax stamps, redeemable at the rate of $2 per $100 worth of tax paid, were to become part of the law July 1, but a six-month postponement was agreed upon after much argument in the closing days of the State Legislature.

House Republicans gave the only vocal support to the plan. Their reason, at least in part, seemed to be political, although there is no guarantee that the proponents of the stamp idea will reap a harvest of votes simply through helping charities by permitting them to redeem the stamps for cash.

Some backers contend the stamp plan will result in a greater return in taxes to the state because it will cut down on the possibility of retailers chiseling on their tax collections. This, too, is open to argument since any increase in revenue the stamps might bring in will be eaten away through printing and distribution costs.

Governor Leader continues to profess his opposition to a sales tax and his preference

for a classified income tax or a manufacturer's excise levy, both of which were rejected by the Republican Senate.

The fact remains, however, that any tax is obnoxious to the person who must pay it. It is also true that an ambitious program such as the administration has mapped for Pennsylvania, for schools, health and welfare, calls for increased taxation. All parties seemed agreed on this; the controversy that dragged on in the Legislature was not based so much on the need as it was on the method of collecting the tax.

Incidentally, the three per cent sales tax has not aroused anywhere near the opposition the one per cent levy did a few short months ago. At least, one hears very little grumbling these days from either consumers or retailers. Maybe we're getting hardened to paying the tax, or it might be we are aware of the need for more money to meet the growing state budget.

That should not mean we as taxpayers will permit the budget to grow by leaps and bounds. In fact, we should make sure we elect the type of representatives who will honestly strive to bring about real economy in government. Only then can we hope for long-overdue relief from taxes.

George Sokolsky Says...

Seating Of Red China In United Nations Will Put Republicans In Embarrassing Spot

The Plot Of 1957

When the State Department sent the names of Paul Hoffman and Dean Rusk to the Republican leadership in the Senate, it did something profane in the sense that it violated Republican promises to be recognized by the United States. The Republicans had bitterly and even cruelly attacked President Harry Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson for their pro-Red China machinations, giving the country to believe that the Democrats were a party of treason.

But the cold fact is that Truman and Acheson did not recognize Red China nor did Red China get into the United Nations. It is no secret in international circles nor among U.N. delegates who make their headquarters in New York that the 1956 meeting of the United Nations General Assembly was postponed until after the Presidential Election for the convenience of the Eisenhower Administration, so that the United Nations General Assembly would not be an embarrassment during the Presidential Campaign. And the most embarrassing subject is, of course, the seating of Red China which could change the votes of many Americans if it occurred before the November Presidential Election.

Apparently for the same reason reports from Moscow indicate that Bulganin and Khrushchev will come to the United States after the election.

The proposed appointment of Paul Hoffman and Dean Rusk to the American delegation to the United Nations is bound to give the impression that the China problem was a factor in these appointments. Paul Hoffman is Chairman of the Fund for the Republic. According to the "Daily Worker" of May 16, Paul Hoffman compared Americans who are fighting Communists to "a new form of Ku Klux Klanism—by which a group of Americans having no judicial status whatsoever can set itself up to pass judgment on the loyalties of their fellow citizens." Since when do Americans require judicial status to express their views on a public question or about public personalities or fellow citizens?

The objection to Dean Rusk is that he was Deputy Under Secretary of State and at one time Assistant Secretary for Far Eastern Affairs under Dean Acheson and was, in a measure, responsible for the policies which the Republicans criticized so constantly and so heatedly from 1947 to 1952. The Republican leadership in the Senate feels that the appointment of Rusk is a direct slap at them and at the Republican Party.

But behind all this is the belief that sometime ago, the State Department secretly agreed that Red China would be admitted to the United Nations by 1957 and that the stage is being set for this event. It is believed by Republicans that the Administration will not veto such a proposal but either will abstain from voting or will go along with the majority. It is accepted that the Administration is bowing to pressure from Great Britain.

Red China will be admitted into the United Nations on the theory of two Chinas, Red China and Formosa, a concept worked out by the British and unacceptable fundamentally to both Red China and Chiang Kai-shek. Thus there will be two Chinas, two Koreas, two Vietnams and eventually all of them will be in the United Nations, some as a result of shooting their way in.

It will not be long before the Government of the United States, on the theory that the game is up and the Soviet World has won all the victories and that there is no use bucking the tide, will recognize Red China.

Unfortunately, this concept of the solution of the China problem makes a liar out of every Republican who said it was all a Democratic plot to appease either Great Britain or Soviet Russia, that it was the concoction of the perverse mind of Dean Acheson. Now that it turns out to be a Republican plot, the product of the realpolitik of John Foster Dulles, it is embarrassing to the Republicans who for so long have denounced it. It is, of course, possible to say that 1956 is a different year from 1952 and that what it was possible to say in 1952 cannot be said in 1956. It really would be an Alice-in-Wonderland situation if the Democrats attacked the Republicans for being soft on Communism.

spell are seen the lost love letter showing up at last, the recovery of one long ill, the birth of a babe and the sudden vision of loved ones at rest in the country churchyard under the long winter snows. The blinding flash of yellow forsythia is like a sudden test of lighting effects on the stage called Earth. The first daffodils provide an orchestral tuneup just before the curtain lifts on "the big show" which leaf and flower scurry to join, as if anxious for a credit line. My New York —by Mel Heimer

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about: Now that summer has burst upon the city in all its splendid squalor—we lost spring somewhere around the turn into the back stretch—it appears that the outdoor-dining thing is back with us again. From the St. Moritz comes word that its familiar sidewalk cafe, with the bright red and white tables, has opened for the 22nd year, and shortly the handful of other al fresco joints presumably will be back in business.

It is a tragedy of my life that I cannot enjoy this charming idea. In Paris, it can be obeyed, yes. However, I have tested the theory in Manhattan, everywhere from the Tavern on the Green to a little Greenwich Village eatery called the Beatrice, where dinner was a half buck and champagne cocktails a quarter a throw—and at all of these outdoor automats... the same thin, steady rain of dust covered my food and booze inside of 10 minutes. Now, our lungs breathe this dust for 24 hours a day, and our shirts and autos are endlessly covered with it—but on our fillet mignon and vodka Collins, it has no apparent charm.

Can't somebody invent an air-conditioned, dust-filtering sidewalk dining cafe? I'd just as soon go up to the St. Moritz place in the soft summer evening and watch the handsome cabs and victorias go lazily by with the horses' hooves clip-clapping—but not until they strain the smog and grit out of my shrimp cocktail.

There's a beauty salon in town, operated by a William of Park Avenue—in his other, Bridget Murphy life he reportedly was William Daoune, a psychologist—that is an enterprising one. Its staff goes "anywhere" to make dames look pretty, from airports to ships that haven't docked yet. Some of the stylists even have finished off a woman's hair-do in taxis going to Broadway night nights. Some of the citizens who have visited William's palm-filled shop are Jayne Mansfield (listen, dad, who is she?), Paulette Goddard, Jennifer Jones, Hildegarde and Paula Stone.

One of the few Manhattanites unable to sit all the way through the grim Diary of Anne Frank is Robert Clary, the tiny French ginger now at the Pierre. His three years in German concentration camps, included Buchenwald, and the tattooed number on his left wrist are still all too stark and clear to him... There's a man named Oliver Milton, teaching at the New York Institute of Photography—an Englishman who once was a game ranger in Tanganyika, East Africa, who speaks in nine languages, four of which I envy him; Nung, Swahili, Maasi and Kachin.

Here's a Gesture I appreciated: When the makers of a new English filter cigarette gave a champagne party at the Ambassador to introduce it recently, they flew over from London a 105-year-old horse-drawn coach, complete with coachman and footman, just to park outside the hotel and get the arriving guests in the British mood... Swift, frightening reading: Sisters of the Night, a book dealing with New York prostitution, by Jess Stearn. Author Stearn is one of the most talented newsmen I ever bluffed out of a pot with a pair of deuces... Another book I must read is one reportedly being written by Valikyra, the California glamor girl recently crowned "Miss Cheesecake of 1956" at the Palladium, a local dance hall. Its title: You meet Such Interesting Newspapers.

A must for everyone are the new lessons in French being given by Emmanuel Zwaaf, maitre d' at the Town House here. It's Emmanuel's intention to make the reading of the French menu easier, so everyone can order coupe aux marrons... The best bar companion in the area is perched over a martini at Out of This World Inn, off the Montauk Highway on Long Island. It's Sugar—a tastefully-dressed shop-window Manikin to whom any drunk can tell his troubles without fear of contradiction.

A glamorous blonde, ambling through the lobby of Houston's finest hotel, was inclined to be holy-toity until she encountered the town's No. 1 oil driller. Then she became charm itself, and inquired coyly, "How much did you say your name was?"

Quote from a high school week-end: "How did your dad wise up to the fact we used his car yesterday?" "Well, do you remember that fat, baldish fellow we just missed running down on Fourth Street?" "Yes, but what's that got to do with it?" "That, my dear, was father."

Inside Washington Republican Strategists Predict Control Of Senate

Washington — Top Republican campaign strategists are convinced that their party will regain control of the Senate in autumn's elections but they are pessimistic about their chances of winning the House. One GOP leader says his party is almost certain to pick up the three seats it needs to win the Senate away from the Democrats, who now have a 48-47 edge with one vacancy.

The three seats being claimed by the Republican source are the two in Kentucky and the one now held by Senator Herbert H. Lehman (D), New York.

The Republicans insist that the death of Senator Alben W. Barkley (D, Kentucky) plus an intra-party fight among the Democrats in Kentucky, gives them their best chance yet to capture the state's Senate seats.

In New York, a great deal may depend on who is the GOP candidate against Lehman. Many Republicans feel that ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will be persuaded to run and insist that he would be a "shoo-in." However, these GOP members say that New York Attorney General Jacob K. Javits—the probable candidate if Dewey won't run—also can defeat Lehman.

8th Congress — With Congress shooting for a mid-July recess, a speedup in legislative action is expected soon. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, back from his smashing victory over Gov. Allan Shivers for the control of the Texas Democratic party, is likely to make a renewed fight for most of his 13-point "program with a heart" which he announced in Texas last autumn.

Two of the items passed Congress and were vetoed — the natural gas bill and 90 per cent price supports for basic crops. However, the new farm bill is on the way; a highway bill appears assured of passage; there will be a fight over the administration-opposed Hells Canyon dam in Idaho; school construction legislation has a chance if the anti-segregation amendment is defeated.

Civil rights legislation and amendments to the immigration law also are on Johnson's and the Eisenhower legislative programs, but both of these likely will be bottled up by opponents.

Hard Luck Keeps Hold On Farmer

By Jim Riley

Bad Luck sometimes just seems to cling to people.

Jake Learn, a resident of the Tannersville area, is beginning to wonder if luck of the unwanted variety will ever relax its grasp on his shoulder.

Learn suffered a severely fractured collarbone last winter when a tree fell on him. The injury was so serious that it required surgery to repair the damage.

Many pains later spring arrived on the scene and Jake began the planting chores required by present-day farmer.

While plowing one of his fields on Wednesday, Learn began feeling abdominal pains. The pain continued through the night and after visiting his doctor early Thursday morning, Learn was admitted to the Monroe County General Hospital.

You guessed it — Jake had his appendix removed on Thursday and the hospitalized man hopes to get back to his necessary planting duties as soon as possible.

The Rewarded Vigil

This is the spring of special glory because of the long vigil. In it is seen the arrival at Emmaus, giving reassurance to the disciples in the hour of fearful doubt. From every panoplied field come the words, "Because thou hast seen me, thou has believed; blessed are those who have not seen, yet have believed."

Flashed from field, valley and hillside is the "light sent forth from Thy holy hill and Thy dwelling place." Here is a blessing in flowers radiating with the beauty of the psalms!

President Seeks To Quiet Alarm Over Military Service Squabbles

At his weekly press conference, President Eisenhower sized up the so-called Pentagon feuds in forthright fashion.

What he said added up to two main points:

He would be frightened if the military services didn't indulge in good, strong arguments—all the time. Because, in these days more than ever, every bit of logic, fact and even deduction needs to be exhausted in dealing with these ever more intricate problems.

But the day discipline should disappear from the Armed Forces, there will be no Armed Forces —“we would be foolish to put a nickel into them.”

It boils down to a fairly simple proposition, good in any organization: So long as a decision is open, every man-jack in the outfit gets off his views and puts up a fight for them. Then the head man makes the decision and the whole team pitches in to carry it out.

The science of warfare is undergoing a radical change. Doctrines long sacrosanct in the military services, as the President said, are being junked. A whole new idea of military operations is in a process of evolution.

While this evolution is in progress, the search for answers is intense. It stimulates controversy. But the purpose is—or should be—to get the right answers, not to promote a fight between the services.

The President made it clear he will put no restraints on arguments among the services, but once a decision has been made it will stick, period.

That ought to quiet any alarm over Pentagon squabbling, and at the same time serve as notice to hotheads in the services not to forget their perspective.

Stamp Tax Plan Put Off Six Months; Growing Budget Requires More Money

Effective date for using the stamp plan in collecting the state's three per cent sales tax has been put off to January 1 in an amendment to the tax law signed Thursday by Governor Leader.

The tax stamps, redeemable at the rate of $2 per $100 worth of tax paid, were to become part of the law July 1, but a six-month postponement was agreed upon after much argument in the closing days of the State Legislature.

House Republicans gave the only vocal support to the plan. Their reason, at least in part, seemed to be political, although there is no guarantee that the proponents of the stamp idea will reap a harvest of votes simply through helping charities by permitting them to redeem the stamps for cash.

Some backers contend the stamp plan will result in a greater return in taxes to the state because it will cut down on the possibility of retailers chiseling on their tax collections. This, too, is open to argument since any increase in revenue the stamps might bring in will be eaten away through printing and distribution costs.

Governor Leader continues to profess his opposition to a sales tax and his preference

for a classified income tax or a manufacturer's excise levy, both of which were rejected by the Republican Senate.

The fact remains, however, that any tax is obnoxious to the person who must pay it. It is also true that an ambitious program such as the administration has mapped for Pennsylvania, for schools, health and welfare, calls for increased taxation. All parties seemed agreed on this; the controversy that dragged on in the Legislature was not based so much on the need as it was on the method of collecting the tax.

Incidentally, the three per cent sales tax has not aroused anywhere near the opposition the one per cent levy did a few short months ago. At least, one hears very little grumbling these days from either consumers or retailers. Maybe we're getting hardened to paying the tax, or it might be we are aware of the need for more money to meet the growing state budget.

That should not mean we as taxpayers will permit the budget to grow by leaps and bounds. In fact, we should make sure we elect the type of representatives who will honestly strive to bring about real economy in government. Only then can we hope for long-overdue relief from taxes.

George Sokolsky Says...

Seating Of Red China In United Nations Will Put Republicans In Embarrassing Spot

The Plot Of 1957 When the State Department sent the names of Paul Hoffman and Dean Rusk to the Republican leadership in the Senate, it did something profane in the sense that it violated Republican promises to the electorate in the 1952 campaign that Red China would not be recognized by the United States.

he recognized by the United States. The Republicans had utterly and even cruelly attacked President Harry Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson for their pro-Red China machinations, giving the country to believe that the Democrats were a party of treason.

But the cold fact is that Truman and Acheson did not recognize Red China nor did Red China get into the United Nations. It is no secret in international circles nor among U.N. delegates who make their headquarters in New York that the 1956 meeting of the United Nations General Assembly was postponed from September until after the Presidential Election for the convenience of the Eisenhower Administration, so that the United Nations would not be an embarrassment during the Presidential Campaign. And the most embarrassing subject is, of course, the seating of Red China which could change the votes of many Americans if it occurred before the November Presidential election. Apparently for the same reason reports from Moscow indicate that Bulganin and Khrushchev will come to the United States after the election.

The proposed appointment of Paul Hoffman and Dean Rusk to the American delegation to the United Nations is bound to give the impression that the China problem was a factor in these appointments. Paul Hoffman is Chairman of the Fund for the Republic. According to the "Daily Worker" of May 16, Paul Hoffman compared Americans who are fighting Communists to "a new form of Ku Klux Klanism—by which a group of Americans having no judicial status whatsoever can set itself up to pass judgment on the loyalties of their fellow citizens." Since when do Americans require judicial status to express their views on a public question or about public personalities or fellow citizens?

The objection to Dean Rusk is that he was Deputy Under Secretary of State and at one time Assistant Secretary for Far Eastern Affairs under Dean Acheson and was, in a measure, responsible for the policies which the Republicans criticized so constantly and so heatedly from 1947 to 1952. The Republican leadership in the Senate feels that the appointment of Rusk is a direct slap at them and at the Republican Party.

But behind all this is the belief that sometime ago, the State Department secretly agreed that Red China would be admitted to the United Nations by 1957 and that the stage is being set for this event. It is believed by Republicans that the Administration will not veto such a proposal but either will abstain from voting or will go along with the majority. It is accepted that the Administration is bowing to pressure from Great Britain.

Red China will be admitted into the United Nations on the theory of two Chinas, Red China and Formosa, a concept worked out by the British and unacceptable fundamentally to both Red China and Chiang Kai-shek. Thus there will be two Chinas, two Koreas, two Vietnams and eventually all of them will be in the United Nations, some as a result of shooting their way in.

It will not be long before the Government of the United States, on the theory that the game is up and the Soviet World has won all the victories and that there is no use bucking the tide, will recognize Red China.

Unfortunately, this concept of the solution of the China problem makes a liar out of every Republican who said it was all a Democratic plot to appease either Great Britain or Soviet Russia, that it was the concoction of the perverse mind of Dean Acheson. Now that it turns out to be a Republican plot, the product of the realpolitik of John Foster Dulles, it is embarrassing to the Administration who for so long have denounced it. It is, of course, possible to say that 1956 is a different year from 1952 and that what it was possible to say in 1952 cannot be said in 1956. It really would be an Alice-in-Wonderland situation if the Democrats attacked the Republicans for being soft on Communism.

—by Mel Heimer

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about: Now that summer has burst upon the city in all its splendid squalor—we lost spring somewhere around the turn into the back stretch—it appears that the outdoor-dining thing is back with us again. From the St. Moritz comes word that its familiar sidewalk cafe, with the bright red and white tables, has opened for the 22nd year, and shortly the handful of other al fresco joints presumably will be back in business.

It is a tragedy of my life that I cannot enjoy this charming idea. In Paris, it can be enjoyed, yes. However, I have tested the theory in Manhattan everywhere from the Tavern on the Green to a little Greenwich Village eatery called the Boater, where dinner was a half buck and champagne cocktails a quarter a throw—and at all of these outdoor automats... the same thin, steady rain of dust covered my food and booze inside of 10 minutes. Now, our lungs breathe this dust for 24 hours a day, and our shirts and autos are endlessly covered with it—but on our flit mignon and vodka Collins, it has no apparent charm.

Can't somebody invent an air-conditioned, dust-filtering sidewalk dining cafe? I'd just as soon go up to the St. Moritz place in the soft summer evening and watch the handsome cabs and victorias go lazily by with the horses' hooves clipp-clipp—but not until they strain the smog and grit out of my shrimp cocktail.

There's a beauty salon in town, operated by a William of Park Avenue—in his other, Bridget Murphy life he reportedly was William Daidone, a psychologist—that's an enterprising one. Its staff goes "anywhere" to make dames look pretty, from airports to ships that haven't docked yet. Some of the stylists even have finished off a woman's hair-do in taxis going to Broadway first nights. Some of the citizens who have visited William's palm-filled shop are Jayne Mansfield (listen, dad, who is she?), Paulette Goddard, Jennifer Jones, Hildegarde and Paula Stone.

One of the few Manhattanites unable to sit all the way through the grim Diary of Anne Frank is Robert Clary, the tiny French ginger now at the Pierre. His three years in German concentration camps, included Buchenwald, and the tattooed number on his left wrist are still all too stark and clear to him. There's a man named Oliver Milton, teaching at the New York Institute of Photography—an Englishman who once was a game ranger in Tanganyika, East Africa, who speaks in nine languages, four of which I envy him; Nung, Swahili, Masai and Kachin.

Here's a Gesture I appreciated: When the makers of a new English filter cigarette gave a champagne party at the Ambassador to introduce it recently, they flew over from London a 105-year-old horse-drawn coach, complete with coachman and footman, just to park outside the hotel and get the arriving guests in the British mood. Swift, frightening reading: Sisters of the Night, a book dealing with New York prostitution, by Jess Stearn. Author Stearn is one of the most talented newsmen I ever bluffed out of a pot with a pair of deuces. Another book I must read is one reportedly being written by Valkyrie, the California glom girl recently crowned "Miss Cheesecake of 1956" at the Palladium, a local dance hall. Its title: You meet Such Interesting Newspapers.

A must for everyone are the new lessons in French being given by Emmanuel Zwaaf, maitre d' at the Town House here. It's Emmanuel's intention to make the reading of the French menu easier, so everyone can order coupe aux marrons. The best bar companion in the area is perched over a martini at Out of This World Inn, off the Montauk Highway on Long Island. It's Sugar—a tastefully-dressed shop-window Manikin to whom any drunk can tell his troubles without fear of contradiction.

Republican Strategists Predict Control Of Senate

Washington — Top Republican campaign strategists are convinced that their party will regain control of the Senate in autumn's elections but they are pessimistic about their chances of winning the House. One GOP leader says his party is almost certain to pick up the three seats it needs to win the Senate away from the Democrats; who now have a 48-47 edge with one vacancy.

The three seats being claimed by the Republican source are the two in Kentucky and the one now held by Senator Herbert H. Lehman (D), New York.

The Republicans insist that the death of Senator Allen W. Barkley (D, Kentucky) — plus an intra-party fight among the Democrats in Kentucky, gives them their best chance yet to capture the state's Senate seats.

In New York, a great deal may depend on who is the GOP candidate, against Lehman. Many Republicans feel that ex-Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will be persuaded to run and insist that he would be a "shoo-in." However, these GOP members say that New York Attorney General Jacob K. Javits — the probable candidate if Dewey won't run — also can defeat Lehman.

84th Congress — With Congress shooting for a mid-July recess, a speedup in legislative action is expected soon. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, back from his smashing victory over Gov. Allan Shivers for the control of the Texas Democratic party, is likely to make a renewed fight for most of his 13-point "program with a heart" which he announced in Texas last autumn.

Two of the items passed Congress and vetoed — the natural gas bill and 90 per cent price supports for basic crops. However, the new farm bill is on the way; a highway bill appears assured of passage; there will be a fight over the administration-opposed Hells Canyon dam in Idaho; school construction legislation has a chance if the anti-segregation amendment is defeated.

Civil rights legislation and amendments to the immigration law also are on Johnson's and the Eisenhower legislative programs, but both of these likely will be bottled up by opponents.

Hard Luck Keeps Hold On Farmer

By Jim Riley

Bad Luck sometimes just seems to cling to people.

Jake Learn, a resident of the Tannersville area, is beginning to wonder if luck of the unwanted variety will ever relax its grasp on his shoulder.

Learn suffered a severely fractured collarbone last winter when a tree fell on him. The injury was so serious that it required surgery to repair the damage.

Many pains later spring arrived on the scene and Jake began the planting chores required by present-day farmer.

While plowing one of his fields on Wednesday, Learn began feeling abdominal pains. The pain continued through the night and after visiting his doctor early Thursday morning, Learn was admitted to the Monroe County General Hospital.

You guessed it — Jake had his appendix removed on Thursday and the hospitalized man hopes to get back to his necessary planting duties as soon as possible.

Stroudsburg Boy Slightly Injured In Brush With Car

A 12-YEAR-OLD Stroudsburg boy was slightly injured about 8:45 yesterday afternoon when he brushed against a moving vehicle while crossing Main St. near the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Borough Police said Douglas Robert Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Robert Williams, of 507 Fulmer Ave., was discharged from General Hospital after receiving treatment for bruises of left knee and arm. He was examined at the scene by Dr. John P. Lim before being taken to the hospital in a private car.

On Way Home

Young Williams ran in front of the Bentzoni car and into the path of an oncoming auto operated by Leo Walters, 45, of Nanticoke, police said. The boy brushed against the left front fender of Walters car.

No Wallflowers At Ramsey Sixth Grade Dance

The Sixth Grade dance of the Ramsey School pupils was one of the outstanding social successes of the Spring season. Held last night at the school, the sixth graders mingled Virginia reels, jitterbug, Sadie Hawkins and bunny hop numbers with many self-styled foxtrots and waltzes for the first dance of their school careers.

Parents were their guests and stag lines were composed exclusively of the over-21-ers. Silk stockings and bow ties added sophistication to the young dancers. Even though the female sixth-graders slightly outnumbered the male Fred Astairs, there were no wall-flowers since the "extras" enthusiastically drafted fathers for partners.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

This has been the most topsy-turvy year; so that it was no surprise to have to scrape ice off the windshield before we could drive yesterday morning, even though the calendar read May 25.

However, Frank and Hilda Larbar had a little more of a shock when they looked out yesterday morning. The sprinklers in the dogwood nursery had been left on all night, and each little dogwood was sheathed in a shimmering halo of ice in the light of the rising sun.

Certainly, the weather intrudes in every conversation and is at times the subject of arguments. We had a rousing one in the office about whether it was possible for it to be colder in Stroudsburg than in Mount Pocono. Stouilly on the minority side, I upheld the viewpoint that since cold air flows like a current down hill, it is perfectly possible with layers of warm air over the ground layer of cold air to have it colder in the valleys than on the mountain tops.

Soroptimists Have Lecture On Old Glass

The Stroudsburg branch of Soroptimists International had a lecture on the "History of Old Glass" at their dinner meeting Thursday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Miss Iris Higgins, a member of the club and an authority on glass, told of the origin of glass-making as one of the oldest of arts along the Mediterranean before the time of Christ.

The methods used then are still in use for the finest of modern glass, she pointed out. She had a display of the various types of old glass and pointed out their distinguishing characteristics.

Plans were also outlined for the installation of officers of the chapter to be held June 28. Miss Elizabeth Saulhaber, president of the Eastern Soroptimists, will be the installing officer. The meeting will be held at The Woodside in Canadensis.

Nepal's new king wore sunglasses at his coronation. The glittering ceremony must have been too brilliant even for him.

For example, in a sloping garden, it reduces the danger of frost if you leave the lower gate open so the cold air can keep on flowing instead of collecting enough to frost. So I contend at any rate, but how I can prove it, short of using Dr. Hood's geiger counter and charged particles, I don't know.

However, there seems to be no argument but that this particular combination of weather, such as it is, provides perfect growing weather for dandelions. Never has there been a more prolific crop—especially on lawns, which even when freshly mowed still sprout a straggly beard of decapitated dandelion stems.

Over 21 Club Plans Revival Of Old Fashions

Diagnian's — The May meeting of the "Over 21" Club took the form of a try-out rehearsal for a return engagement of their "Old-Fashioned Album" which proved so popular last year. Following a general format of "Fashions — Then and Now" and interspersed with musical and dance specialties, the production will be given at the Delaware Township Consolidated School on Saturday, June 23rd.

Twenty-two members were present at the meeting to try on hats, gowns, and shoes, that had been garnered from attics all over the community and there was much hilarity as the "models" squeezed themselves into pointy, high-buttoned shoes, boned collars, and hour-glass waists.

At the close of the meeting, the members adjourned to The Delaware House, for pizza served by Mary and Bill Hoffman. The committee in charge of arrangements included Mrs. Grace Sutphen, Mrs. Katherine Wesener, Mrs. Wilma Ogden and Miss Cecilia Menetret.

THE

SHOPPER

When some people tell you where to go, it's bad. When Edna Brockman of our Wyckoff Travel Bureau tells you where to go, it's good . . . particularly now since she has returned from a Travel Clinic conducted in the banquet room at Walp's, Allentown, by Trans-World Airlines. If she had ideas before that were contemplated to make you spend your money, you should hear her now! She has a program that will give you a lift right into the clouds . . . via TWA, naturally!

"More people are traveling today than ever before," Edna beams triumphantly. Her very expression indicates she might truthfully add the phrase "through our Wyckoff Travel Bureau." Certainly business is booming . . . and, according to James E. Farley, agency representative for TWA, by 1959 a lot of this traveling will be done in jet planes. "Just think what that means," Edna enthuses. "It means," I said, "that you get there before the dresses have a chance to wrinkle in your suitcase."

"It means lots of other things," Edna agreed. "It means that instead of spending all your vacation in traveling, you will have a lot of extra time to spend at your destination."

In his talk, Mr. Farley discussed all the types of aircraft now in use by TWA, and the routes used in the United States, Asia and Africa. The clinic's program also included instruction in the proper procedures for marking all passenger tickets so that there cannot possibly be a misunderstanding anywhere along the line, and how best to explain to a client the number of stops he is privileged to make at no extra cost on a first class ticket, both in the United States and internationally. Non-stop tourist and first class services to the West Coast were discussed, as were those discounted international tickets enabling a husband and wife to save $200 on a joint fare to Europe between November 1st and March 31st.

Attending the clinic with Edna was Grace Grace, who assists in the Travel Bureau from time to time. Both girls agree that all of the tours being offered now are so exciting it's difficult for them to keep their own feet on the ground. They'd just love to give everyone the air . . . on a TWA flying carpet, as it were.

Off the record (but with me everything OFF the record usually ends up IN the Record) Edna tells me the prize trip of all is a twelve day flight to California that costs only 279.50. "This," she explains to my unbelieving ears, "includes all air fare and hotels. It does not include food or airport transfers—but then you'd also be buying food at home." The itinerary calls for four days in Los Angeles, three in Las Vegas, and four in San Francisco.

I have only one fault to find with this itinerary . . . after a stopover in Las Vegas, who will have any spending money left for San Francisco? The company, it seems to me, has used a great deal of foresight however, in exposing their passengers to America's Monte Carlo for only THREE days. Unless he has only one shirt to lose almost anyone could hold out that long.

You know something? After fifteen minutes with Edna, I'm convinced of one thing—summer time is a perfect time to be air-conditioned.

Burrows Reveals Challenge For Outstanding Students

BANGOR—Ralph Burrows, East Stroudsburg High School principal, was the guest speaker at the annual Honor Students banquet sponsored by the Bangor Exchange Club. The dinner was held at the Blue Valley Farm Show Auditorium near here Thursday night.

Burrows told the State Belt area honor students, parents, Exchange Club members and guests that there were four stand-out challenges for outstanding students. They include, he said, the challenges of invention, freedom, knowledge and excellence. Particularly in excellence, he added, lies the key to what he called one of the major threats to continued American progress.

Students honored by the Exchange Club were Diana J. Fetherman, Sonia A. Rasely, Nancy Repscher and Madelyn Weidman, Bangor Area Joint High School seniors; Theresa Capozzolo and Madeline Falcone, Pope Pius X High School seniors; Mary Louise Hamm and Carol Spagnola, Bangor eighth grade honor students; Nicolas Monocella and Philip DeMillo, Roseto eighth grade students; William Miller and Mary Jane Ott, Lower Mt. Bethel Township students.

Also Marian Werner and Ronald Wasser, students of Washington Township Consolidated School; Rebecca Oyer and Nancy Couch, of East Bangor, Barbara Jean Bisher and Mary Lou Reagle, Upper Mt. Bethel Township; Thomas Wagner and Denny Patti, Portland eighth grade students; Ann Korzenowski and Frances DiLorenzo, Lower Mt. Bethel Independent District and students at Wolf Junior High School, Easton; and Harry M. Kachline and Steven Barzynski, Our Lady of Mt. Carmel School, Roseto. Certificates were presented to each of the honor students by Robert Barlett, Exchange Club president.

Introduced were Trevor Williams and Donald B. Keat, principal and superintendent respectively of the Bangor Area Joint School; Mrs. Althea LaBar, Washington Township Cornelia Sticks, East Bangor School Consolidated School principal; Mrs. principal; John W. Sabatine, elementary school supervisor of the Bangor schools; and Rev. Gennaro Leone, representing Pope Pius X High School.

The program was arranged by the committee which included Alfred Counterman, chairman, and Trevor Williams, Millard Gleim and Earl Kressler. Kressler also served as master of ceremonies.

ABOUT $150 damage was caused when fire broke out on a garbage truck on Foxtown Hill yesterday afternoon.

Stroud Township firemen responded and quickly put out the blaze, which burned a tarpaulin and also damaged the box of the truck.

The owner, Edward Coslar, theorized that the fire was ignited by a lighted cigaret in the refuse aboard the truck.

THE EAST Stroudsburg High-Stroudsburg diamond clash at Memorial Field, Eastburg, provided the fair turnout with a better amount of thrills and surprises.

Probably the biggest eye-opener was the pitching of Ron (Super) Phillips of the Mountainers. Phillips, who had done some pitching in the area's Babe Ruth League but who hadn't toed the mound for the Jerry Stulgaitis' lads this year set down the Cavaliers with three hits and showed a good amount of intestinal fortitude when the going got rough in the late innings—especially in the fifth and seventh frames.

The hurling of the "Super" reminded oldsters of the transformation of Bucky Walters from a mediocre third baseman to a topflight moundman in the majors; and the more recent switch of Cleveland's Bob Lemon from the infield-outfield to the hill.

If the last game of the season means anything to Stroudsburg High, aside of its big win over an arch-rival, the reincarnation of Phillips as a twirler might be just the righthander the West Main St. coaches are looking for next year.

Another gem that caught the onlookers with awe was the fine one-handed stabbing watch of Ron Ejdys on a well-hit line drive to left by the Cavaliers' potentially great catcher Bob Stine.

Stine, who seems to improve more and more with each outing, lashed a belt into left that was ticketed for extra base, but the alert Ejdys came racing over and picked the ball out of the air in a manner that would make many a major league outer-gardener doff his hat.

There's little that can be added to Gene Piazza's herculean belt in to left center. The blow was a sorer all the way. It was just a question of whether the injury nipped Cavalier infielder could make the cycle. He did with plenty to spare.

Stroudsburg's Ron Stopp had the Eastburg pitching like he owned them. The chunkily built workman drove one into the seats in right for a ground rule double; missed another two-bagger when his hit became an out when he failed to touch first; and hammered out a single in four trips to the plate.

The game brought out its usual display of courage on the part of the participants. Don (Ockie) Seizer, Stroudsburg outfielder-pitcher, played despite a badly twisted ankle; and East Stroudsburg's Plaza went the last three innings practically on one leg.

The game ended up on a note that was a bit nostalgic to many a veteran as the vanquished Cavaliers, led by their Captain Dick Gray ran over to congratulate their conquerors en masse. Certainly a fine gesture considering the tempo that prevailed throughout the contest.

The following is a letter addressed to this writer concerning a column written Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Bob Clark, Sports Editor, Dear Bob: In relation to Monday's column concerning Stroudsburg's "supposed" ineffectuality in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League, we hereby wish to state, "that's one man's opinion." We doubt very much if the rest of the teams in the league have given up hopes of winning the pennant. For the public's information, Stroudsburg last year's pennant winners won fourteen straight games and we are sure that no one "trilled over and played dead"; in fact, they were eliminated in the first round of last year's playoffs.

The Strouds at this early date are undefeated, but it's a long season. Very truly yours, JAMES C. WERKHEISER, Tannersville, JACK NEWELL, Saylorburg, TOM CARMELA, Bushkill.

Our comeback is that we hope the rest of the P.M.L. teams don't roll over and play dead. And this we are sure is not "one man's opinion."

Gilbert Dunning To MC Banquet
GILBERT DUNNING, East Stroudsburg High School teacher, will be the toastmaster at the first annual all-sports banquet, honoring Cavalier athletes at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church Tuesday. The affair is slated to get under way at 6:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be C. Robert (Bobby) Rute, head football coach at Easton High. The fete, which will highlight special awards to the athletes, is being sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Joint School Board.

Three-Way Tiff
NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—A three-way point scoring contest among Manhattan, Villanova and Maryland a rash of record breaking are predicted for the 60th intercollegiate AAAA track and field meet Friday and Saturday—the last major competition for Eastern college athletes before the Olympic tryouts.

Pocono Ends MCL Season In 2nd Place

POCONO LAKE — Coach Harry Werkheiser's Pocono Twp. High nine finished the Monroe County League season in second place by mauling Tobyhanna Twp. High 14-2 in a league finale for both schools here yesterday.

It was the fourth win in five circuit outings for Pocono, while the loss was the fifth consecutive for Tobyhanna. Polk Township clinched the pennant two weeks back with a 5-0 record.

Pocono scored in every inning but the first and sixth to win going away. Tobyhanna put across its only two tallies in the fourth.

Neison Winner
Doug Neisen, Burdett Peachatka and Paul Fraley shared the mound chores with the former getting credit for the victory. Gerald Keiper went all the way to absorb the loss for Tobyhanna.

Neisen and Peachatka also led the Werkheiser nine barrage with three hits each, including a pair of doubles by Neison.

Keiper, Mayberry and H. Keiper were the best hitters for Tobyhanna with two bingles apiece.

Belvidere 'B' Rallies In 7th To Top Royals

BELVIDERE — Belvidere High's "B" team scored two runs in the final inning to pull out a 13-12 victory over Pope Plus X High of Roseto here yesterday.

The Royals of Joe Villano blew a 12-3 lead when Belvidere rallied for eight runs in the fifth inning to pull to within one of the Roseto nine.

Paul Schwark, the first of two Royal hurlers to see action, was charged with the defeat when he walked a pair in the seventh and was victim of one of his mates' misuses. Joe Bavaria came on and passed in the tying and winning markers. Schwark was the loser.

Jim Hardy, the second of two Belvidere pitchers, was the winner.

Blahut Homers
Schwark led the Royals at the plate with three for four, including a triple. Simeon Blahut stroked out the big blow for Plus X, a homer with two aboard in the fifth. Hardy homered with two on in the fifth to spark the big Belvidere outburst.

Rush Tops Majors In Gopher Balls
NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—One of the reasons Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs has compiled no better than a 2-2 pitching record this season is his penchant for giving up home runs. The big righthander has allowed 16 gopher balls to lead the majors in that department.

Rush, who permitted only 19 homers in 234 innings last season, has yielded his pace-setting total this year in 48 frames.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press also revealed that Lefty Bill Pierce of the Chicago White Sox has allowed nine homers to top the American League. Pierce has worked 59 innings.

Roberts High
Robin Roberts of the Phillies, who usually is liberal where home run sewers are concerned, again is among the leaders. He has yielded nine gophers to tie Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati and Pittsburgh's Bob Feller for second place in the National League. Roberts established a major league record in 1955 with 41 "home runs off."

The records include Wednesday's games.

Redlegs Win
MILWAUKEE, May 25 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs scored an unearned run for each of four Milwaukee errors, two of them by Billy Brutton, and defeated the first-place Braves tonight, 6-5.

Scouts Open Drive To Expand Camp

EASTON — Wednesday night here at Hotel Easton some 100 scouts from the Delaware Valley Area Council gathered at the Kick Off Dinner for the Advanced Gifts of the $200,000 Capital Fund Campaign for the Expansion for the Boy Scouts Camp at Camp Weygadt.

Karl J. Miller, Council President, pointed out that since the 30's the Delaware Valley Area Council has grown from some 700 scouts to a present membership of over 3,000. "By 1960 the membership will be up to 5,000," he added.

At the present moment the physical facilities at Camp Weygadt are inadequate for the need. Weekly more Boy Scout troops desire to go to camp than can be accommodated. In addition the present facilities need to be renovated and enlarged. The Dining Hall for example needs to be enlarged and the cabins need to be winterized.

Study

The need at Camp Weygadt has been carefully studied by both the Executive Board of The Delaware Valley Area Council and the Camping Service of the National Office of the Boy Scouts of America. $200,000 is the minimum need for the improvement of Camp Weygadt.

In addition to Miller's report on the need, William S. Wyckoff, Stroudsburg, along with Mr. Thomas B. Armstrong, New York Transformer and Dr. Robert G. Crossen, Lafayette College, spoke from "The Business Man's Viewpoint" and "Our Youth Need". Max Tipton, General Chairman of the Campaign, closed the meeting with the emphasis that "We Can Do It".

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff also present from Stroudsburg were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cramer and Mr. and Mrs. Detlef Hansen.

Hearing At Court House

THE PUBLIC Utility Commission will hold a hearing at 10 a.m., Monday in the Monroe County Courthouse relative to an application from the Lackawanna Railroad for approval of the alteration of a grade crossing in East Stroudsburg.

The alteration, designed to serve the Line Material Co., would be at the intersection of Burson St. and Lackawanna Ave.

PP & L Head Opposes Installations

CHARLES E. OAKES, Pennsylvania Power & Light Company president, testifying yesterday before the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, voiced strong opposition to the bill by Senator Gore (D., Tenn.) proposing a series of atomic power plant installations by the federal government. Quoting that one of the stated purposes of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 is to "encourage widespread participation (by industry) in the development and utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes," Mr. Oakes said that the Gore bill was directly contrary to the meaning and purpose of the Atomic Energy Act.

"Take-Over"

Naming the Gore bill as a "take-over" plan for the federal government, Mr. Oakes said, "I know of no case in which the Government of the United States has forcibly intervened to take over an industrial program of commercial application where the industries involved were prepared to do the job and were in fact proceeding with an all-out effort to do that job. I believe there is no record of this ever happening, because it has never been felt by Congress that such action is proper for the Government to take. One can readily see that a possible end result of the Gore bill is preemption by Government of all power generation by nuclear means."
